

1. Write appropriate code to formulate the following structure.[10]

2. Create a class named student and constructor and finally create object for that class to print the name, email address and age of the student.[5]