

My Intentions to be in University

Today, we live in a world, where there is competition everywhere. From school, college to job sector, we have to compete others to gain our position in a particular place. To survive in this world, we have to get our best selves out.

University is a place, where people can swim in the ocean of knowledge. A university gives students the opportunity to gain an in-depth knowledge of their chosen Subject and develop skills. My intentions to be in university are building the foundation of my career, learning new things and acquiring knowledge.

To build a career higher study is important. But developing soft skills like communication skills, self-confidence, presentation and problem-solving skills are equally important, which universities provide. In future, I want to be successful, be the best version of myself and lead a life up to my expectations. So I need to learn and gather skills to survive in this competitive world. University prepares us for the competitive world and helps us to get jobs which gradually helps us to earn money. Earning money is a very crucial part of our life, without money we can't survive.

It's not just all about learning. There are dozens of extracurricular opportunities to get involved with at university, which will boost both enjoyment and employability throughout the higher education experience in my life. That's why I got admitted to the University.
